

The Big Dig

I recently discovered that Boston has an underground highway that cuts through its downtown strip.

At one point, it was an elevated highway that cut through the city. See the before-and-after images below.

The idea was conceived in the 1980s. The project started in 1991 and was completed in 2006. It's often referred to as, The Big Dig.

Before and After

It was America's most expensive highway project to date, costing over $8 billion.

The Wealth Gap Near Me

Stamford is so small that I often shop for groceries in different cities that are only minutes away from my apartment, such as Darien, Greenwich, and Norwalk. Greenwich is often considered one of the richest cities in the world. Seeing mansions on my commutes is not unusual. And that's one of the reasons I wanted to move to New England; I wanted to be close to wealth. I thought that it might have a good effect on my mindset. Seeing the possibilities is inspirational and motivational.

I wasn't aware of the beachside mansions nearby. I found them on Google Maps and Google Earth. They're about 2.7 miles away from my apartment (the blue dot below).

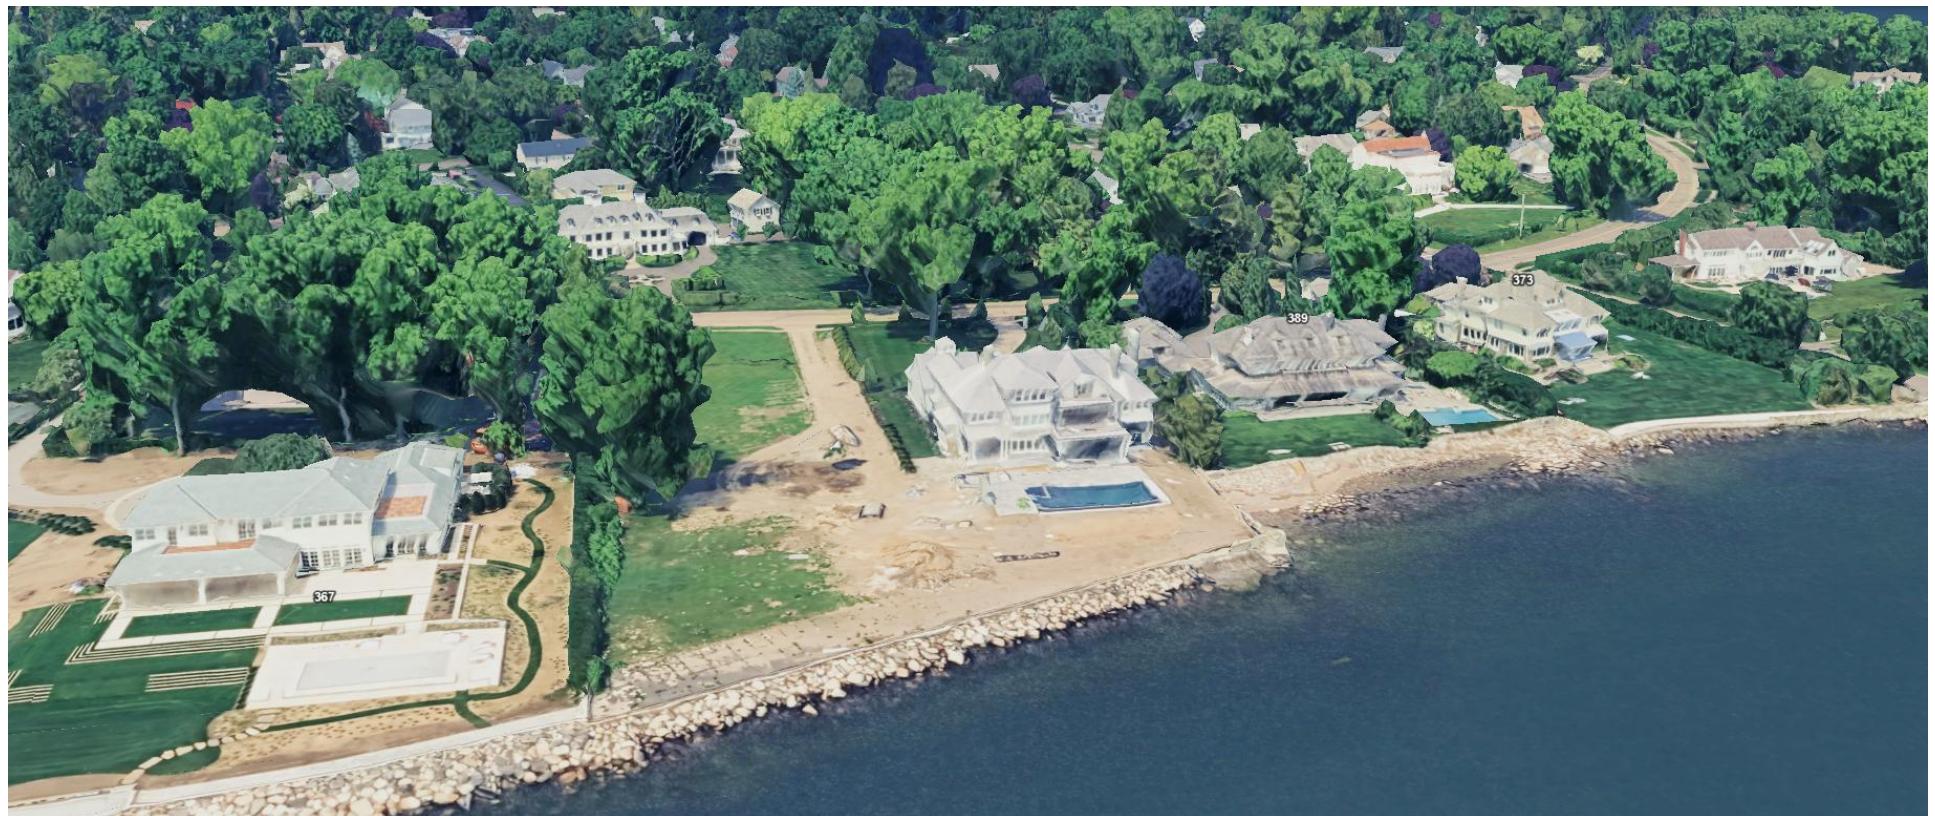

Here's a close-up of some of the houses at the point encompassed by the orange box to the left.

Here's another close-up. I'm surprised I can zoom in this close using Google Earth (until today, I had not used the tool in years).

Another close-up.

My Potential Land

Beach houses are nice, but I prefer to be surrounded by trees without a neighbor in sight. I was looking for some prime real estate recently, and I found some potential (something that I could see and visualize, something that's possible for me). I don't need a huge house. I really just want the land.

Given my line of work, it's important that I have several safe houses. As you know, being the son of a secretive CIA agent who says she works at the VA hospital (my mother), I've developed a unique set of skills, including espionage, general reconnaissance, and executions, all of which require me to be the dark-and-mysterious type with houses and lovers around the globe.

Lex Fridman

He recently interviewed Javier Milei, the President of Argentina. His interviews are quite interesting, especially the ones about computer science.

He wants to interview Kim Jong Un, Supreme Leader of North Korea. I bet he will do so sometime soon, and that would also be historic.

If I was a great fictional author, I would write a book starring a character like Lex Fridman who is actually a Russian spy. Lex has close ties with prominent people, including the Trumps, Elon Musk, and remarkable computer scientists. He's in a good position to infiltrate the US because he's a friend to the elite.

Lex Fridman

Lex Fridman is a Russian-American computer scientist and podcaster. Since 2018, he has hosted the Lex Fridman Podcast, where he interviews notable figures from various fields such as science, technology, sports, and politics.

Kai Trump

Donald Trump's granddaughter recently started a YouTube channel. I enjoyed watching her golf in the video below (she's good). My prediction: she might lead the Trump throne someday (or at the very least, she'll play some type of important role in the family). Also, seeing her live in such wealth is fascinating (e.g., golfing at her grandfather's golf course, sitting in the cockpit of her grandfather's plane while it lands, having a personal trainer prime her body before she exercises, etc.).
